is proud to present

An evening with acclaimed futurist Anni Macbeth (Annimac)

Value driven, Annimac works with corporate and NFP organisations, and individuals wishing to thrive in a world of cooperative capitalism where the quadruple bottom line of financial gain, environment, society, and cultural sustainability have equal consideration. Sought after as a keynote speaker across Australasia, Annimac has a reputation for presenting highly complex and vast amounts of information in easy to understand and entertaining ways. Audience participation is always maximised ... and encouraged! So come along with questions, and enjoy the answers provided in Annimac's inimitable style

Topics to be covered during the evening:

Future trends in the workplace including the role of women, regional influences (both intrastate and internationally) and, most importantly, the generational characteristics that define and divide the employees – and community members - of yesterday, today and tomorrow.
